Cannot Reduce a Rate.

It is stated in Washington, that they had their pains for nothing. Be- down it darts down the under side of reckless motoring. He believes that, ander the Townsend rate bill, if a rate is fixed by the Commission it cannot be lowered by a railroad. Should an emergency arise calling for a decreased rate, the railroads or shippers would have to appeal again to the Commission, there being no latitude allowed, whatever the circumstances. Hitherto a maximum rate has been the rule, but no such concession is made under the proposed legislation.
